

Call for Candidacies for AfWA Excellency Award

Madam/Sir

The African Water Association launches a call for candidacies, for the attribution of the AfWA Excellency Award 2008. The candidates files must be transmitted to the Administrative Secretariat of the ASSOCIATION at the latest on November, 1st 2007.

The AfWA Excellency Award shall aim at rewarding a persons or organization having contributed significantly to the realization of an activity, a research and an innovation or an action for the development of the water and sanitation sector on a technical, commercial or management level for the benefit of the Members and in respect of the objectives of the AfWA which are:

To coordinate the search for knowledge and latest development in the technical, legal, administrative and economic fields for Drinking water production, supply and of sanitation

To promote the exchange of information on methods, processes and procedures of drinking water production and supply and sanitation

To initiate, encourage and promote any action of cooperation and exchange in professional training in water and sanitation field.

The jury is composed of 7 Members and includes 3 members of the Board Committee, 2 representatives of the regular and affiliated members: 1 Representative of the donors, 1 external Personality chosen by the Board Committee and proposed by the Scientific and Technical Council

The prize will be awarded to one or several persons or institutions whose candidacies will have been presented, at a rate of one candidacy for each one, by the Companies Members of the AfWA (Regular and Affiliated). No one can present its own candidacy.

The Price will consist of a Trophy and/or an amount of money which will be decreed by the President of the Africa Water Association during a solemn public meeting which will take place during the opening ceremony of Congress 2008. The theme of this first edition of the Excellency Award is:

DRINKABLE WATER SUPPLY TO UNDERPRIVILEGED AREA

The candidate must have been distinguished by an action or a meritorious project whose criteria of appreciation defined by the Scientific and Technical Council are as follows:

- 1) The degree of implication of the populations supplied during the study, the realization and the implementation of the project, as well as the implication of other partners.
- 2) Within the framework of a sustainable development the implementation of such a project must give the possibility of a long-term exploitation without significant modification of the infrastructures through out time.
- 3) The project must be original and must be able to put forward the use of new technologies.
- 4) The underprivileged areas are numerous in Africa, but water, source of life is a peremptory necessity for all. The project should be able to be implemented in other areas of the country were it was initiated or even in other countries of the continent.
- 5) The objective of the project should be to give the access to the service of water to all, but any project has a cost which at the end of the line is supported either completely or partially by the consumers. Thus the two principal parameters emerge: The cost of realization of the project and tariffs applied to the consumers in the specific case of the aforesaid project. The first must reveal the inciting character of the second.
- 6) The realization of the project must have affected the total service supply rate of the local company in charge of the water supply .

We invite you to subject your candidatures for the AfWA Excellency AWARD 2008 by filling out the attached form, and by forwarding any document allowing a write appreciation of your candidate.

All candidatures must be transmitted to the following address :

- b) The transaction on the Special Account will have a different accounting, which will be included in AfWA financial report.
- c) Any unused balance at the end of the year is deferred to the following financial year.
- d) The financial accounts are submitted to the auditor of the AfWA for checking purposes.

Article 5 Investments

The funds credited to the Special account will have to be invested. The interest accruing from this investment is carried to the aforesaid account.

Article 6 General Provisions

Unless the present financial regulation states otherwise, the AfWA financial regulations will be applied to the management of the Special Account.

PROMOTING AND ADVERTISING THE CLASS PRIZE

1°) – Context and justification

In order to promote and improve the quality service of its corporate members, the AfWA created a Class Prize within a global context that is characterized by some concerns related to the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) for the improvement of the Drinking Water Supply and Sanitation (DWSS) mainly.

The aim of the Class Prize is to reward individual or legal entities having achieved some innovating research activities within the AfWA member companies' fields of qualification.

2°) – Objectives

- To promote quality service within the member companies
- To appreciate and acknowledge the African or even international expertise
- To arouse benchmarking among its members, scientists and the actors in the drinking water and sanitation sector
- To participate in the search for optimal solution in order to reach the MDGs.

3°) – Application

Any individual or legal entity who can present the findings of his innovating works which implementation led to or can significantly lead to a performance in the target field.

Applicants who do not belong to the organization could be sponsored by the AfWA members.

4°) – Organization of the Class Prize:

- The Selection criteria

The Prize will be awarded to one or some individuals or institutions having applied for the benefit of the AfWA corporate and affiliated members on the basis of one application for each.

In case no application is selected, the jury could take into consideration any other application presented by 5 members at least.

- The Jury

In accordance with the bye-laws, the AfWA President is entrusted with the notification to the jury and drafting the agenda of these meetings.

The AfWA Secretary General will ensure the jury's secretary functions without any voting right. The Fund will be in charge of the expenses related to these meetings.

- The Prize

The AfWA Class Prize was set up:

- To reward individual or legal entities having significantly contributed to the achievement of an innovating and research activity or a water and sanitation sector development action at the technical, commercial or management level for the benefit of the AfWA members and within the framework of the AfWA objectives.

- To ensure the promotion and appreciation of the African expertise in the various fields of the water profession ;
- To popularize innovations resulting from research and
- To stimulate an effective and beneficial collaboration among the AfWA and the other research/ development organizations.

The AfWA Class Prize shall be awarded every other year by a jury. In case of an exceptional decision by the jury not to award the Class Prize, the sum not awarded would be deposited back in the initial allocation.

The duration for awarding the Class Prize is undetermined since its existence is linked to the one of the AfWA.

The financing of the Class Prize is from the capital interests made of the initial allocation of an amount from the various deposits made by the AfWA members and actors.

Subsidies from any State, Government, Association, Organization, individual or legal entity shall be accepted. Yet, the Executive Board and the General Assembly shall not accept any gift from donors whose activity, philosophy, policy and ethics are contradictory with the AfWA objectives.

The initial allocation shall be in fixed deposit in order to produce interests that will be levied every other year in order to ensure the financing of the Class Prize and the activities of the Jury.

- Selection of the award winners

The Class Prize award winners shall be selected by a jury whose decision shall be by consensus or by vote in conformity with the article 3, General Regulation paragraph.

5°) Right of the AfWA to popularize and promote the awarded achievements

In addition to the awarded trophy Prize and a financial envelop which amount shall be mentioned in the general regulation document, the AfWA will ensure through its various communication and information media (AfwA Info, News letters, website ...) the promotion and popularization of the awarded achievements. And this will represent an international acknowledgement and appreciation of the award winner's expertise and the possibility to collaborate with the AfWA and its members and other organizations of the sector.
